Course Description

This course examines Governmental organizations (Municipal, State, and Federal) which differ significantly from Business-related organizations in many ways and, accordingly, have a different set of standards in regards to accounting activity. Accounting and reporting is reviewed according to the Governmental Accounting Standards Board (GASB) including budgeting, proprietary funds, and revenue funds. In addition Not-for-Profit entities are, also, examined.

Course Objectives

- Define the differences in reporting objectives between governmental bodies and a corporations owned by stockholders traded on an exchange.
- Identify the rulemaking bodies of governmental financial standards.
- Identify the required financial statements and their components for federal, state, and municipal governments as well as not-for-profits organizations.
- Describe the measurement of revenues and operating expenses in government-wide financial statements.
