

MBU Online Textbook Ordering

Required textbooks for your classes can be found at:

<http://www.marybaldwin.textbookx.com>

Classes along with the booklist will be posted approximately one month prior to the start of each term. You will find most of your classes under the drop-down entitled “BaldwinOnline/Distance Learning”. However, if you are taking a class at the Staunton campus, it will be listed under the “College for Women/University College” drop-down.

Text information is supplied prior to each term by the instructor of each course. If you do not see book information listed for your course, either your course has no books or your instructor did not place an order. If it is close to the start of the term, it is best to contact your instructor.

There may be several options for textbooks for any particular class. In some cases they may offer new and used books. They may also offer a rental or ebook option on some titles. There is also a “market place” option on the site. These are books being sold by other college students through the site. Although in many cases these books are a cheaper option, be advised that this may not be your fastest option. Regardless of which option you choose, always allow plenty of time for mail-order shipping.

Students wishing to charge books to Financial Aid may also be able to do so through this site. But before doing so, you must contact Linda Fretwell in the Student Accounts Office. (lfretwell@marybaldwin.edu). She will assign an authorization number for you to use when placing your order.

For any returns or service issues you will need to go to the “Customer Service” link at the bottom of the textbookx homepage. You can also call them at 800-887-6459.
